Kidd's Name Changed.

The station, mines and postoffice at Kidd have been changed to Crescent.

The Pittsburgh & Wheeling Coal Company have invested a large sum of money in coal lands there, and have a large force of men making a new opening, laying new track, etc. A new steel tipple will be put up.

A Rubbish Fire on the Creek Bank.

Yesterday afternoon the Atlantic engine's hose wagon was called by a still alarm to Main and Sixteenth streets, where the paper, boxes and other debris on the creek bank, adjoining the Main street bridge had caught fire, probably from a spark from a passing K & O engine. The place was thoroughly drenched, and the lively blaze that had started quickly put out.

For Co. G, Second W. Va. Cavalry.

Lieut. H. J. Fulmer, late of Company

C, Second W. Va. Cavalry, would like to communicate with any of the former members of that company of Colonel William H. Powell's regiment, so that suitable accommodations may be secured for them in reputable private families during the Grand Army national encampment in Pittsburgh in September. Lieut. Fulmer's address is

No. 10, Martin street, Allegheny City,

Penn.

The Penitentiary Board Meets.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the West Virginia penitentiary was held in the directors' room of the penitentiary at Moundsville yesterday. A full board was present. Only the regular routine business was transacted. The out of town members left on the afternoon train. The work of Warden Van Pelt in making the grounds in front of the prison so beautiful and attractive by flower beds and a nice swing, was highly commended.

Transfers Recorded.

Clerk Hook yesterday admitted to record transfers of real estate as follows:

August 8, by Elizabeth Hartenstein to William Hartenstein, for $2,200, the north half of lot 82, on the east side of Main street, between Third and Fourth streets.

June 6, by J. E. Montgomery and wife to Mrs. L. C. Dunkle and Emeline

Montgomery, for $500, the Montgomery and Darling farms, in Liberty district.

Also two deeds of partition of property on Fourth street, by John W.

Wickham and A. S. Wickham and wife to C. W. Wickham; consideration $1 and natural love and affection.

The Longed for Rain at Last.

Yesterday the weather was hot, but the breeze seemed to promise rain.

The shower held off, however, until everybody concluded there would be none. Last night clouds blew up from the west, and shortly before midnight a pleasant rain set in, while the western sky promised a more decided storm. It was much needed, and even now is too late to do a great deal of good, as nearly all growing vegetation is parched to a crisp. A three or four days' rain might be of some benefit. A heavy shower would be acceptable in town, as it would flood the sewers and wash off the streets, both results much needed.

The Fish Law Enforced.

Detective R. W. Bolton, of this place, says the Washington, Pa., Observer, returned Tuesday evening from the Ten Mile region, where he had been for several days looking after violators of the fish and game laws. He has been very successful, having arrested and had fined about thirty violators of the law and has about twenty more "on the list." The other day he "pulled" three young men who were setting for fish near Rice's Landing and it cost them each $51 50 for their sport. He brought back a wagon load of set nets, seines, gigs, torches and other paraphernalia, which he captured from the law breakers.

So Near and Yet so Far.

Three prominent young men celebrated their birthdays yesterday and incidentally engaged in a little gambling. Their respective ages were 26, 33 and 44 years. They purchased base ball combination tickets for those numbers and then hid themselves to the pool room certain in their own minds that they had all but one club on their side, and this club—Chicago—seemed to have Cincinnati on the hip figuratively speaking, for Anson's men made three runs in the eighth and went ahead. Visions of a champagne supper floated around them, but Comiskey's Braves didn't do a thing to the Colts' pitcher—they only made four runs. And 26 wasn't in it.

To Atlantic City, Cape May and Sea Isle

City via B. & O. Thursday, August 16, 1894.

days, with stop off privilege at Washington, D. C., returning. Pullman

STANTON-CRUISE.

A Quiet, But Impressive Marriage Ceremony.

Yesterday afternoon at half past 4 o'clock St. Joseph's Cathedral was the scene of an unpretentious, but beautiful marriage ceremony, the contracting parties being Mr. Joseph Stanton, the popular head of the firm of Stanton & Hughes, well known to the country at large from his former connection with aquatic circles, and Miss Marie Cruise, a very handsome and popular young lady of the South Side.

The officiating clergyman was Rev.

Father Moyer, and the ceremony was very brief. Father Moyer delivered a very eloquent and appropriate short discourse. The church was fairly full of the friends who came to witness the ceremony, among them quite a number from out of town. The attendants were,

Mr. John Holmes, of Pittsburgh, and Miss Jennie Glance, of Parkersburg.

The bride never looked so handsome as in her elegant costume of cream silk, with diamonds. After the ceremony the bridal party proceeded to the residence of the bride's brother-in-law, M. O'Neill, on the South Side, where last night a reception was tondered and a splendid supper served.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton will go to housekeeping at once in their finely fitted apartments adjoining the Milwaukee restaurant. They began married life under the most enviable auspices, and with the heartiest congratulations and best wishes of the wide circle of warm friends possessed by each.

Porter-Semple.

Mr. Charles Q. Porter, of the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling office of J. E.

Terry, at Wheeling, was married at 2:30 yesterday afternoon to Miss Lily F.

Semple at the residence of the bride's father, K. J. Semple, on South Eighth street, Steubenville, by Rev. H. LeF.

Graban, of St. Paul's church. The ceremony was a very quiet one, only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties being present. They left for a lago trip after the ceremony, and on their return will go to housekeeping in this city. The bride was a very popular young lady in social circles at her home and had been connected with the telephone exchange for several years.

IT IS NOT TRUE.

As the "Register" says, That the Republican Nominees Represent But Two Districts.

The Register, in answer to the criticism that the Democratic legislative candidates all come from the country and the Eighth ward, says the Republican candidates are all from Madison and Union districts. The Register knows very well that this is untrue. Mr.

Smith lives in Clay district, Mr. Campbell in Madison and Mr. Brady is a resident of Triadelphia district. The house he formerly lived in was sold, and he moved into town temporarily, but he
